

It's The Law Quiz

	True	False	Not Sure
1. People have to be 18 to buy alcohol in the UK
2. Children under the age of 14 can go into a public bar
3. People can't be arrested just for being drunk
4. A bottle of alcopop has more alcohol units than a vodka and tonic
5. Volatile substance abuse kills more 10-15 year olds than all other illegal drugs combined
6. Young people cannot be prosecuted for drug offences if they are under 18
7. Possession of cannabis carries the same penalty as heroin and cocaine
8. Supplying someone else with cocaine, including your friends, can get you life imprisonment and an unlimited fine
9. If people are caught taking drugs at a party in your house, they are the ones who will be prosecuted
10. The police can test for drink driving but not for drug driving.
11. More than a third of robberies, burglaries and other thefts relate to drug use
12. If a British person is caught with drugs in another country, they can only be prosecuted under UK law.			